

Tinto Brass Street Band is a musical project that draws directly from the sound of New Orleans Jazz and filters it through his personal artistic experiences, pulling out a totally original and recognizable sound.

The jazz that influenced the sound of the Tinto Brass Street Band is that of the early twentieth century played by energetic and tireless marching bands, real talents forges that later become icons of music such as Louis Armstrong, King Oliver, W.C. Handy, Sidney Bechet to name a few.

BASIC INFOS:

Years active: 2012-today

Website: www.tintobrass-streetband.com

Genres: New Orleans Jazz, Blues, Swing

Origin: Sicily, ITALIA

Tinto Brass Street Band are:

Andrea "Louis" Savasta: Trumpet, lead Vocal

Daniele "Mr. T" Savasta: Trombone

Mirko Sapia: Tuba

Thomas "Tumazzo" Occhipinti: Snare drum

Turi "Professor" Di Natale: Banjo guitar

Peppe "Kalipha" Virzi: Bass drum

Tinto Brass Street Band has published two albums

"Monella" (2012)

"Careless Love" (2019)

An ocean crossing, a return to the early twentieth century. The "shredded" sounds come from the smoking bells of New Orleans' brasses. The smell that does not go away, as the old Noodle from "Once upon a time in America" would say, is the one of the streets, our wandering stage.

And the streets are the stage for Tinto Brass Street Band, where you can dance and sing to the echo of a jazz so old that you cannot find not even in dusty vinyls.